James 1:1

1. What is surprising or significant about James identifying himself as a “servant?”
2. How would you define the idea of “servant” in speaking to someone in current culture?
3. Describe a person in your life who has been a “servant.” What impressed you about their actions or attitude?
4. Who is the audience of this letter?
5. James writes to the “twelve tribes scattered among the nations.” In a general sense, his teaching unites what is scattered. Where in your world (home/work/personal) do you feel the burden of things/people as “scattered?”
6. How might you imitate James and take your next step to serve in your world?
7. In what area of your life do you long for God to unite what is scattered?
8. Spend a few minutes in prayer for one another, that God would bring wholeness to the scattered places.
